My work is functional and sculptural in nature. It is reduction, high-fire stoneware with manipulation of surface and form. My focus has been to alter this soft, pliable, earthy material in a playful and sensitive way, often pushing the limits of the material. Stretching allow richness and tactile appeal. Generate energy and personal involvement.

For the past 15 years, I have been painting my pond in rural Minnesota. I lived on 20 acres made up of 12 acres of woods and an 8-acre pond. In 2019 I had the opportunity to travel to France to study Monet's paintings and to visit his gardens in Giverny. This was an inspirational experience! After letting this adventure simmer for two years, the scenes I encountered there are now coming to life in my paintings. My unique paintings are also filled with color and light as seen in the dynamic compositions.

I build with various local hardwoods and proceed from the standing tree to the finished product. I try to focus on tables but have been doing more commission work of late. I generally work with large dimensions and use live-edge to add an element of nature. Wood has its own beauty and I enjoy using it in an artistic way.

Fusing art glass provides us with the freedom to experiment and manipulate glass by color, texture, shape, and how a piece will be used, be it a functional serving plate, platter, bowl or a decorative piece of art. There are infinite possibilities when fusing with art glass that can be very exciting and challenging.

Eduardo Rodriguez was born on September 12, 1997, in a town north of Las Tunas, Cuba called Puerto Padre. He has enjoyed painting since he was a child; always had the desire to learn more about the world of painting. Due to the lack of people who were interested in him academically there was no opportunity to take any official courses. He is a self taught oil painter who has now lived in Holstein, Iowa since April of 2022. He is happily married and keeps busy with large format paintings and murals for surrounding areas

Chase Croft | Boji Film Camera
Based in Spirit Lake, Iowa, I am a film photographer drawn to the textures, tones, and timeless character of 35mm—though I also work in medium and large format. My images often explore urban scenes and abandoned spaces, framing them with an eye for intrigue and untold stories. Whether in color negative, black & white, or slide film, my work seeks to preserve moments with honesty, atmosphere, and a quiet sense of discovery.

I learned to appreciate art since I was a child, but also to find it wherever I went, not just in museums and books. As I grew up, I found myself always looking for expressions of art in nature, its colors, textures, forms and patterns. Thus, it is not surprising that Mother Nature is usually the inspiration for my paintings, although I also find inspiration in a day's simple occurrence that captivates me for some reason. My goal is to create and share the emotion(s) my soul feels as I paint.

My purpose with photography or any of my art is to showcase the gorgeous possibilities that can be seen through the camera lens or with a brush or pencil. And while the camera is the canvas for my visions, the computer becomes the "paint brush" for the finished image. While some of those morning and evening spectacular colors may seem unreal, I guarantee it was magical as I observed them unfold in person - and becomes the "paint brush" for the finished image. While my photography work continues, I've also picked up an actual paint brush and other supplies in recent visits to my studio.

Oil paintings of whatever intrigues me from simple forms to grand landscapes, from monochromatic to explosions of color. It may be the humble frog or a grand eagle, the neighbor's silly beloved pet to a humbling sunset on the lake. I have fun expressing myself with crazy colors and patterns and then feel moved to attempt to paint silence. I love discussing art in any form and from any creator. I do believe we are all creative.
